Subject: RE: Meeting Today

I eluded to the SEC regulatory issues yesterday, but didn't think it was the right time to get into it. The SEC case was filed on 2/14/2017, and was settled on 2/22/2017, about 1 week later. So the case is over. Terms of the settlement are: No admission of guilt, No industry bars, or restrictions. In essence, I can't violate the 1933 and 1934 securities laws. Even though the case has been settled, the fund and investments in the fund are ongoing. The investors have lost no money, and at this point, stand to gain quite a bit.

We had a very differentiated business model, which the SEC didn't understand, and frankly didn't like. We didn't cross all of our T's and dot all of our I's. That was our fault, so we left a door open for the SEC to come in. It's more to that story, and it's a very interesting one, perhaps we can talk about over a drink one day.

Hope that helps.

Best

Patrick

Patrick,

I was curious if you were planning on telling us about your SEC case?

Have you gone to court?

Daniel
