William T. Reid, IV ("Bill") is a founding member of Reid Collins & Tsai LLP ("RCT"). A true trial lawyer, Bill has tried a wide range of civil and criminal cases to verdict before judges and juries. For example, in 2014-15, Bill tried tandem jury and bench trials over two, three-week trials against Credit Suisse winning both and proving that Credit Suisse fraudulently syndicated a $540 million real estate development loan. In September 2015, the trial court awarded a $287.5 million judgment and in October 2017 Bill argued the appeal before the Dallas Court of Appeals. Just recently in December 2017, Bill won an acquittal in a public corruption case against a San Antonio School Board member accused of bribery. Bill handled the case pro bono because he felt that the case was unjust.

For three years as an Assistant United States Attorney during the 1990's, Bill focused on complex drug and corruption prosecutions, trying 25 cases to verdict (and getting 24 convictions) and prosecuting hundreds of cases annually. Since returning to private practice in 2000, Bill has put his experience to good use in the courtroom, rarely going a year without taking at least one commercial case to trial. Bill has never lost a jury trial since returning to private practice in 2000. Since 2009, Bill has obtained several top-100 trial judgments/verdicts for his plaintiff clients. He is currently managing a docket of plaintiff's litigation far in excess of $1 billion.

At RCT, Bill's complex commercial litigation practice is national and international in scope. He currently represents several public companies, Highland Capital Management, LP, and numerous liquidators, bankruptcy fiduciaries, and SEC receivers, among others. Bill's active cases span an array of jurisdictions and involve clients, assets, and witnesses located throughout the world. For example, in September 2017, Bill filed a $74 million fraudulent transfer case in the Republic of the Marshall Islands, where he was admitted pro hac vice.

A seasoned commercial litigator, Bill has extensive experience litigating, and trying, a broad range of complex commercial and financial cases. Many of Bill's cases at RCT fall within the categories of insolvency litigation, professional malpractice, business torts, fraud, and complex financial transactions. He has handled many cases arising out of Ponzi schemes and cross-border frauds, as well as fiduciary litigation, professional liability cases, and bad-faith insurance actions.

Bill has been recognized in both the Lawdragon 500 best lawyers in the U.S. and Best Lawyers of America for several years. Bill has been listed in the National Law Journal's top-100 jury verdicts twice since 2009.

Bill is admitted to practice in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second and Fifth Circuits, the United States District Courts for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, and all of the United States District Courts in Texas. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Fifth Circuit Bar Association, the New York State Bar, and the State Bar of Texas.

After law school, Bill served as a law clerk to the Honorable Reynaldo G. Garza, United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit. Bill received his J.D., cum laude, from St. John's University School of Law, where he was an editor of the ST. JOHN'S LAW REVIEW. Bill received a dual undergraduate degree – a B.A. in Economics and a B.S. in Accounting – from the University of Connecticut at Storrs, cum laude.
